Secretary's desk... Dr.Chandrashekhar S

Dear Members

Greetings from KSCASI.

Hope to find you all in good health despite the covid pandemic. We have all experienced a different, fearful and challenging situation and hope to overcome this very soon.

We took charge of KSCASI office from February 14th 2021. The previous Executive Committee, headed by Dr.SS Soppimath have done a wonderful job during Covid 19 pandemic. Dr.Gaddi Diwakar executed his chores excellently. All meetings and conferences were conducted virtually. I think for the first time elections for KSCASI were conducted online and that most of the documents were digitalized by this team.

KSCASI has a good number of ASI members and I request the office bearers of all branches to report all the programs organised by them on time to KSCASI so that the same will be sent ASI head quarters.

I request the support of all the members of KSCASI so as to excel in our academic activities. We have planned to organise accademic activities, once a month at the State level by the scientific committee headed by Dr.Lakshman.K.

I hope our official Newsletter SHASTHRA, will come out with you lot of information contributed by all the members and the editor, Dr.Kalaivani.

Long live KSCASI

CLINICAL STUDY FOR VALIDATION OF NOVEL PRE OPERATIVE SCORE IN ELECTIVE/INTERVAL LAPAROSCOPIC CHOLECYSTECTOMY TO PREDICT DIFFICULT GALLBLADDER

Introduction

Laparoscopic cholecystectomy is established as the gold standard for majority of patient with benign gall bladder diseases. The advantages of laparoscopic cholecystectomy over open are earlier return of bowel functions, less post-operative pain, better cosmesis, shorter duration of hospital stay, lower infection rate and expenditure. The ability to accurately identify an individual patient's risk for conversion based on preoperative information can result in more useful and accurate preoperative counseling.

Methods

Patients admitted in K. R. Hospital, with minimum of 87 cases undergoing LAPAROSCOPIC CHOLECYSTECTOMY for symptomatic benign gall stone disease and chronic cholecystitis above the age of 18 years. Patient with CBD calculus, where CBD exploration is required, pregnancy, obstructive jaundice, biliary pancreatitis, cardiac diseases, respiratory diseases, coagulation abnormalities are excluded. Pre-op scoring done using factors like BMI > 30, males, comorbidities, TLC > 11000, multiple stones, prior cholecystitis/pancreatitis, fatty liver, gall bladder thickness > 4mm, prior cbd stenting and abdominal Surgeries each are given one point. Score > 5 is considered as difficult. Intra-op scoring like duration of surgery > 45 minutes, Adhesions, bleeding, difficult GB extraction will be noted. Score > 1 is considered as difficult.

Results

In our study the Accuracy for prediction of difficult laparoscopic cholecystectomy was 100%, with sensitivity of 89.7% and specificity 97.3%. The conversion rate from laparoscopic cholecystectomy to open cholecystectomy was 7% which was in accordance with International standards.

Conclusion

Pre-operative prediction of a difficult laparoscopic cholecystectomy not only helps patient counselling but also helps the surgeon to prepare better for the intraoperative risk. Male patients, TLC > 11000, Previous Abdominal Surgeries, BMI > 25, thick GB wall and multiple GB stones were significant preoperative predictors of difficult laparoscopic cholecystectomy.

Foreign body ingestion

Foreign body ingestion is a relatively common emergency problem mostly seen in the paediatric population. The management of a rare case of an adult patient who swallowed a mobile phone focuses on a lesson learnt from the failed endoscopic management which later required laparotomy for the retrieval of it.

A, 24 year old female was brought to casualty with complaints of pain abdomen since 2 days. Upon detailed history taking patient revealed about the accidental mobile phone ingestion containing a lithium battery 5 days earlier, details of which she refused to reveal. Clinical examination was unremarkable. After initial abdominal X-ray and CECT abdomen, two radio opaque objects were identified in stomach and sigmoid colon. Patient was then taken up for Upper GI endoscopy which revealed a mobile phone case in a disassembled state in the stomach without the battery and it could not be retrieved and later required laparotomy with gastrotomy and sigmoidotomy for the retrieval of phone case and battery respectively.

Post op period was uneventful. Patient was allowed oral diet on post-op day 3 and discharged after psychological counselling.

An ingested mobile phone in a disassembled state in the stomach and sigmoid colon may not be amenable for removal using the current endoscopic retrieval devices and additional modifications are required; failing which open surgery is indicated in the event of ingestion of foreign bodies.

- His areas of Interest in cancer are
 - Creating Cancer awareness and Health Promotion.
 - Surgery of Oral Cancer, Thyroid Cancer, Breast Cancer, Oesophageal Cancer, Gastrointestinal Cancer, Gynaecological Cancer, Bone and Soft tissue Cancer and Paediatric solid tumours.
- Key to your success - "Consider success as a journey and not a destination"
- Any message to younger surgeons : "Learn – Relearn – Update - Upgrade".
- Can you elaborate, Sir : "Every 5 years be ready to upgrade your skills".
- Comments on whether to specialise or not : "If we specialise too much we become microscopic and lose sight of the big picture. Have a broad base and then narrow down, if you have a narrow base, you may topple. Also look at your situation, location and needs and act accordingly. Metro cities, may be yes ; tier II cities, No".
- Current Surgical training : "Both the seed and the soil have to improve. Focus has to be on skill based education. Many come out but are not industry ready".
- Any success Mantras which helped you in your practice : "Being patient centric, not speciality centric, maintaining professional honesty".
- Your way to reduce stress : (jokingly)-"Don't let the neighbour's TV decide which TV you should buy.
