Please read the article carefully:

Try and answer the following questions and make notes as required;

Is it a relevant topic?, From a good journal?, Are the methods satisfactory?, Are there adequate numbers?, Are all the patients accounted for?, Are confounding factors accounted for?, Are appropriate statistical tests applied?, Does the discussion cover all aspects of the study adequately?, Are the conclusions drawn supported by the data in the paper?

The presenter will discuss this article with a powerpoint presentation and will open the discussion at appropriate points of the presentation.

Please feel free to put your points across. The moderator will try to accommodate as many questions and comments as possible, within the time constraints. You can always put your comments in the chat box.
